We are honoured to have Ms Eva Lo, an international and multi-awarded Trainer, as our Speaker. Eva has worked with industry leaders in major industries such as banking and finance, hospitality, luxury brands, as well as government and NGOs. She is passionate about contributing to the community and was awarded by the Government of HKSAR and commended by the United Nations.

Is DEI (diversity, equality, inclusion) important to your company? While DEI has supported the business success of many companies around the world, in some places, it has become controversial, even on the retreat.

Please join us to share Eva's insights and stories (both successes and failures), and participate in meaningful discussions on why and how you can leverage DEI to support your business. This is a rare opportunity to network and exchange the latest business knowledge and best practices to elevate your HR practices.
